Hello from the Head...

It has been a fantastic week of ACE learning and thinking all things kind as we got involved in my #astleyasks challenge. We have seen some wonderful acts of kindness; from painting, to litter picking to making parents a cup of tea and baking cookies! Don't forget...being kind also means being kind to yourself, so try and take a bit of time for that this weekend too.

We hope you enjoyed our new ACE Celebration Assemblies last week, it is so important to celebrate at the moment and the hard work and resilience that you are all showing truly deserves that. Look out on your class pages for this week's celebrations.

EXCITING NEWS: starting on Monday 8th each class will have a daily 'live start.' This will be a short daily zoom at 9am with the staff team. Weekly extended zooms will continue as now, but these 'live starts' will be a quick and positive way to start the day and 'check in' with everyone ahead of the day's learning. Hopefully these will be a good motivator too and give everyone a chance for a happy start to the day, they will be about 5/10 minutes long. Class teachers will send round the joining details asap.

Mr Seager and I have thoroughly enjoyed joining the class zooms this week; we have had lots of fun doing quizzes, treasure hunts and listening to stories. Most of all it has been just wonderful to see your lovely faces! We can't wait to join again and see what ACE fun is in store next week.

Have a lovely weekend and remember to be kind to yourself, as well as to others.

We are all important in this massive team effort...and we are very happy to be sharing it with you!
