Hello from the Head...

What a FANTASTIC first week back in school we have had! It really has been such a joy to see and feel the buzz and happiness around Astley again and we are SO IMPRESSED at the attitudes of the children. They have come back positive, ready to learn and keen to share their experiences. Long may the Astley sun keep shining...

Today is 'Slippers and Stories' day, and we are looking forward to sharing our love of reading and celebrating some of our favourites. Staff have been sharing with us their favourite books in our #astleyasks challenge and we will also all be enjoying a hot chocolate today while we read - look out for all the action on twitter. In addition to the book tokens we have sent home, we are also delighted to be able to send each child home today with one of the World Book Day endorsed books. These were kindly donated by Holt Bookshop, and we are very grateful – we hope you enjoy!

Next Friday 19th is Red Nose Day and we will be celebrating with the official tag line 'Funny is Power!' It's a non-uniform and crazy hair day...perhaps a positive that lockdown hair can bring us! Monetary contributions to the fantastic charity on the day are welcome, but not essential.

A BIG shout out to our lovely Astley mummies and ALL OF YOU SPECIAL PEOPLE who look after our fab children and do so much for them; they are such a credit to you and we hope you get treated beautifully on Sunday.

Have a wonderful weekend, filled with stories, love and smiles.
